HASKELL'S DEFENSE OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE

CORPORATION COMMISSION.

The fellow who is sore because his corporation is being compelled to give the people a square deal, will howl about the great cost of this commission. Let the people understand, however, that the first year of the corporation commission, with everything to organize and regulations to be accomplished, requires more money than will be needed in later years, but the cost of this commission is but a drop in the bucket compared with the good they will do.

TEACHING AGRICULTURE.

We said in our constitution that Agriculture, horticulture, stock raising, etc., should be taught in our schools. Thanks to Speaker Murray, our laws put that provision of the constitution into practical effect.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

The right to acquire land whereon to build a railroad, lay a pipe line, build a water power plant, open public roads, build school houses, etc., is necessary in order that the wheels of progress and development may not be delayed. The legislature gave us a practical law on this subject and at the same time, the land owner must have his pay, and our law says he shall get his money the minute they take possession of his land. Our law makes the matter speedy, simple, and with a minimum amount of court expenses, and gives the land owner his pay more promptly than three-fourths of the other states of the union. Thanks to Senator Thomas and others.

LABOR DAY.

Our legislature says that Labor Day shall be recognized as a legal holiday. This was a just compliment to the men who make our state worth living in. Thanks to Senator Yeager and Representative Vandeventer.

CORPORATION FEES.

The Oklahoma Territory law charged a uniform fee of Ten dollars for chartering corporations, no matter how big, nor how little. The new law of the State of Oklahoma says that the corporation fee to be paid the State shall be one-tenth of one per cent of the authorized capital stock, with a minimum fee of three dollars. This will produce probably seventy or eighty thousand dollars per year income for the state. Thanks to Senators Russell and Franklin, and Representative Hudson.

GRADUATED LAND TAX.

The owners of great tracts of land, thousands of acres being held by one person, is disastrous to the welfare of any community. No neighborhood can prosper where a large part of its land is owned in great acreages by non-resident land owners. Give us the medium sized farm, with the owner living on it, and we will show you a prosperous, progressive community. The graduated land tax will have the effect of producing this condition. Thanks to Representatives Stimers, Ben Williams, Ben Harrison and Senator Russell.

INHERITANCE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times ridicules our legislature for taxing everything in sight. That paper is owned by a bunch of grafters, and edited by a hired man who don't want to see anything taxed but the farmers and small home owners. Our legislature did not agree with that idea, and therefore, inheritances above ten thousand dollars to the widow, and five thousand dollars to the direct heir, has a per cent of taxation graduated according to the amount. Thanks to Representative Anthony.

GROSS REVENUE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times kicks about a tax on gross revenues, but our legislature believes that where productions of coal, oil, expressed earnings, and the like, practically escape ad valorem taxation, that they should make it up to the other taxpayers by a production tax. The legislature of Oklahoma does not intend to tax anybody's property twice, and it may take a little time to do justice to all, but they do not intend to let large properties escape taxation in the future as they used to in the old Territory days. Thanks to Representatives Hart, Anthony, and Smith (of Grant County) and Senator Strain.

PURE FOOD.

LITTLE SYMPATHY FOR THE UMPIRE.

To many the umpire is a mysterious being. In fact years and years of careful work bring recognition to the umpire and then the strain of all the battles that prepares the leagues officials for a more peaceful past time than being the third party on the diamond.

The umpire never comes to the ball ground with the players. He is usually alone. He shows up protector and mask in hand about game time, and the moment the contest is over is lost in the crowd. While he is just as much in the public eye as the idols of the teams yet he is seldom landed.

Few persons see any desirable qualities in an umpire particularly when the home team is losing. When they are winning the people haven't any time to waste on an ordinary umpire. The players get the attention yet this quiet mysterious strange person is just as essential to the game as the pitcher or catcher. He represents the authority of base ball.

No two umpires are alike, all of them have their peculiarities. It is sometimes difficult to recognize the difference of certain arbiters work from the stands, but among the players the umpire's weak points are instantly noted. If he gives an inch his usefulness behind the mask is gone. Only the iron hand dealt without fear or favor forces respect for an umpire. Now fans who ever umpires a game don't roast him help him, encourage him, for he is human. Let's have good, clean, base ball for Ada. T. O. CULLINS.

TARS SEEK PROMOTION

Over 2,000 Men in Admiral Thomas' Fleet Want Better Berths.

There is a strike on in the fleet. Over 2,000 men in Admiral Thomas' armada have gone out for better positions and higher wages. But the most remarkable fact about this strike is that it is perfectly agreeable to the employers. In fact the Navy Department and the officers of the fleet encourage it in every possible way, for these men are endeavoring to get their demands by conforming to the regulations put in force by the Navy Department for the promotion of enlisted men.

In 1901, Congress passed what is ordinarily known as the Personnel Act, which enables enlisted men in the service to become commissioned officers—something that before this was only possible for Annapolis graduates. The result of this law has been very beneficial, encouraging men in the navy to study for promotion and thus acquire the good habits and conduct that the study habit carries with it, and involuntarily forcing them to learn more of the theory of their work. Consequently there has been noticed a marked betterment in the efficiency of the service.

It is no ordinary sight to observe one of the Admiral's tars after the watch has been "piped below" getting his "ditty-box" and spreading his "calking mat" in a comfortable place and making a recitation on Nautical Astronomy—a recitation that is to be sent by mail to his correspondence school professor; for it is through the correspondence schools that most of the men secure their theoretical training.

The International Correspondence Schools, of Scranton, Pa., alone have over 2,000 students in the fleet that is now sailing up the Pacific. Of the 24 enlisted men who have so far secured commissions as ensigns under the Personnel Act of 1901, 14 have been I. C. S. students. On account of the mammoth organization of this great institution it is possible for its students on board the fleet not only to send in their recitations from every port of call, but to actually come in contact with the representatives of the schools at most of the points at which the fleet will touch. These schools have agencies at Bermuda, Buenos Ayres, Panama, San Francisco; and if the fleet should come home through the Suez Canal the men could find established agencies at Honolulu, Manila, Shanghai, Bombay, Singapore, Alexandria, etc.

The Navy Department has granted every inducement for the men to study through the opportunity afforded by the International Correspondence Schools. On each ship in the fleet there is an Instructor and representative of the schools who looks after the interests of the students on board and helps them in their studies. It was through the warm interest that Admiral Evans had for this institution that it was possible to secure the great concession of having these instructors appointed on United States ships.

In speaking of the work accomplished by the I. C. S. among enlisted men, Admiral Dewey says: "I am glad to learn that so many men in the naval service have taken and are taking advantage of the excellent system which these Schools follow. I have heard many favorable opinions expressed in regard to their work."

On board many of the ships study quarters have been fitted up where students may have quiet and all conveniences for progressing in their courses. Admiral Chas. M. Thomas, in charge of the fleet has expressed himself as being amazed at the wonderful progress his men have been able to make.

The advancement of enlisted men in the Navy is only one branch of the enormous work carried on by this great factory of trained brains—the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. For 16 years they have been occupied in the sole business of providing ambitious men and women in all trades and professions, in all conditions and circumstances of life, with the training that would qualify them for higher positions, better salaries, and successful lives.

That they have been successful in doing this is proved by the gigantic growth to which this institution has attained. Sixteen years ago it was a mere experiment with one course of instruction. It is now in many ways the largest educational institution in the world, with 208 courses of instruction. The proprietors of the institution have a capital of $6,000,000; own and occupy 5 buildings covering over 300,000 square feet of floor space; they have a private printing plant turning out 3½ tons of printed matter per day; a mailing department handling 15,000 pieces of mail every 24 hours; 3,000 employees; and an instruction staff competent to handle the work of 3,000 students each day.

The original preparation of the instruction matter for these schools cost $1,500,000, and every year there is spent a quarter of a million in revising and improving this instruction matter.

Hundreds of thousands of men have secured advancement through I. C. S. training. Carpenters have become architects; machinists have become superintendents; and clerks have become managers and proprietors of businesses of their own. Not only have men advanced in their own trades and professions, but men working in un congenial occupations have changed to more pleasant work where advancement was quicker and greater; and young men wishing to learn a trade or profession have been enabled through I. C. S. Courses to enter the trade of their choice and at the start have secured a position paying a good salary.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Ahrenbeck Delivers Two Interesting Sermons to Large Congregations.

The services at the First Presbyterian church Sunday were appreciated by large congregations. The music was inspiring, the special feature of the evening program being a beautiful anthem. This is to be an attractive part of the services every Sunday.

The sermon in the morning was from the text, "Unto Him Be Glory in the Church by Jesus Christ Throughout All Ages World Without End. Amen." Eph. 3:21.

The minister took up the emphatic words in succession which, he said were like sea shells brought all the way from the shore and resonant with musical echoes from the ocean of eternity.

The first word emphasized was glory. This meant hallelujah—praise the Lord—glory to be to God! Man's chief end is to glorify God. God is not an infinite egotist demanding worship at the expense of humanity. This glory consists in blessing humanity at His own expense and it reaches its consummation in the sacrifice of His own Son. He requires worship because no other way can man reach highest moral development. Morality, generosity, and all the virtues of humanitarianism dependent on religion. Destroy worship and you destroy civilization. Glory to God in the highest is the key note to angels song and must be the key note to every song sung by mortal lips below.

2. The second emphatic word was church. Glory to God in the church. God has a great cathedral for the manifestation of his glory. The great temple of humanity co-extensive with the entire race is God's great Catholic church resonant every where with praise to God. All things work together in divine harmony for the glory of God and in union for the benefit of humanity. Even wrath of man is made to praise him, and sinful murmurings arise like deep base notes contributing hoarse amen to the glory of God's justice.

3. Jesus Christ. Glory to God in the church by Jesus Christ. Christ is the architect of the church and author of its sacred music. By Him all things are reconciled or harmonized. Without him we would not have the opportunity, nor the inclination, nor the means of glorifying God. He deserves our highest praise and some day He will get it. Some day we shall hear the Hallelujah chorus when the infinite multitude redeemed by his blood will be gathered together and the skies shall vibrate with the symphony of ten thousand golden harps and every eye shall be fixed on Him and every tongue confess that he is Lord to the glory of God.

4. Glory be to God in the church Jesus Christ throughout all ages world without end. This phrase is equivalent to eternity. Paul was aware of the fact that whatever a man does shall last forever. Even the words that fall from our lips go vibrating into eternity and nothing, not even the everlasting ages, not even the power of God, not even the precious blood of Christ can recall the echo! Shall we not sing a song of which we never need be ashamed? Shall we not bring our lives in harmony with God's purposes, in tune with the infinite and so "make of life, death and the great beyond one grand sweet song." No man can make a greater mistake than to live for time when any moment may launch him into eternity, because time is too short to lost a single hour in learning the key note of heaven's hallelujah choruses and eternity too long to spend in the darkness of hell, the basement of God's cathedral where the only part the lost can contribute to the glory of God will be the weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth.

5. The closing word is amen—the most significant word for sinful men. In it is all the consolation of the gospel. All that God asks of us in beginning the christian life is to say amen—not like a parrot, but with a determination to do our best in living christian lives. Angels can do no more. We cannot give adequate expression of our devotion, but we can say amen. We can not save our own souls, but we can endorse what Christ has done. This is all God asks in beginning the christian life, the soul's approbation to his gracious scheme of redemption. Listening to this doctrine and bearing in mind what Christ has done and what he will yet do, our hearts break forth in one grand responsive and unanimous amen. Hallelujah!

Could my tears for ever flow,
Could my zeal no longer know,
All for sin could not atone,
Thou must save and thou alone.

The sermon in the evening was from the text, "And They That Are Wise Shall Shine as the Brightness of the Firmament and They That Turn Many to Righteousness Like the Stars Forever and Ever." Dan. 12:3.

We regret that space will not permit us to give more of Rev. Ahrenbeck's evening sermon, but will say those who were fortunate enough to hear it are high in their praises, the sermon was only of 40 minutes duration, but every sentence was forcible and to the point his members appreciated him very much.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of those weaknesses. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is sold by

G. M. RAMSEY.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

Piles are easily and quickly checked with Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment. To prove it I will mail a small trial box as a convincing test. Simply address Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. I surely would not send it free unless I was certain that Dr. Shoop's Magic Ointment would stand the test. Remember it is made expressly and alone for swollen, painful, bleeding or itching piles, either external or internal. Large jar 50 c. Sold by

Sermon by Pastor D. J. Austin, North Ada.

Text, Math. 24:12. Iniquity Illustrated.

A man digging a well in Minnesota discovered an old Spanish gunboat which has recently been completely unearthed. The impression is that the boat was run up into that region by the early Spanish discoverers about the year 1600, when a much larger part of the state was under water than now. Five cannon and two mortars and a large number of cannon balls were found on board. The gunboat was found in the bed of a creek, which was no doubt in the old time a navigable river. As the years have passed by, it has been covered over completely by the soil, until thus discovered by accident. It is interesting as a curiosity, but worthless as a gunboat. A great many churches are in that condition. They belong to another age. Instead of keeping pace with the current of the world, floating on the bosom of its life, keeping in touch with its living heart, they have been covered over with its drift and forgotten. They are interesting relics of the dead past, but are worthless as allies in the capture of the world for Christ. Almost every church has some members in the same condition.

There is plenty of room in Ada and every other community for "A Don't Worry Society." Christ intended the church to be that society. Worry is inseparable from a sinful or a faithful soul. If we believe in God and are sure we are at peace with him, then we can live without worry and can utter the language of Isaiah: "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song." Little men require much room. If Lot had been as large a man, in mind and heart, as Abraham there would have been plenty of room for them both in the same country; but Lot was a little man with enormous greed. There are lots of Lots. It is hard for such men to live in peace anywhere, especially when the winds blow and the rains descend; they are sure to worry and tremble. Such men as Lot need some sort of moral surgical operation to open their hearts and give the room for a larger vision.

We must beware of little things that will shut off our supply of spiritual power. A fast express train was brought to a standstill in a strange way. The fireman found that it was impossible to keep up steam.

Examination showed that only a very small amount of water was coming through the feed pipe. Further investigation was made, with the result of discovering a big eel in the pipe. The eel had probably been sucked up into the water tank when quite small. Many a train of righteous influence, making for the salvation of men, has been stopped by an equally insignificant cause. There must be no wriggling eel of selfishness in the spiritual feed pipe. Where iniquity abounds frigidity of love is sure to exist.

It is a terrible thing to have people depend on us and resort to us in time of great need, and have only a frozen heart to show them. In one of our large cities a fire that with proper resources could have been quickly extinguished spread to enormous proportions and destroyed a large amount of property because the firemen found the water frozen in the first hydrant they undertook to use.

Revival of religion and attempts to put out the fires of sin and iniquity in the community are often hindered in the same way. The hydrant of the water of life in some minister or layman who stands in the necessary relation to the work in hand is frozen up.

The condition of a great many people whom we meet in the churches, in whom religion at some time has been at high water mark, and they have retained certain ice-rings of reminiscence, which they are always exhibiting, but the current of spiritual life no longer surges in their hearts. So it is a deplorable fact that where iniquity abounds "the love of many is sure to wax cold."

In this age of progression we should abandon moss-back ways, cease our excavations for the old gunboat and re-embark abroad the ship Zion with up-to-date equipage, pray the little Lots into contentment, remove the eels, warm up the hydrants with omnipotent love; and don't be a croaker. A strange story comes from the historic old Ritchie place in Kentucky. There is on the place an old log spring house, built at the beginning of the century. A never-falling stream of ice-cold water flows into this old house, forming a pool several feet deep. Here it is alleged a giant frog has had its home since it was built. As the frog family is endowed with great longevity. What lends color to this theory is the fact that there has never been

but one frog seen in the neighborhood of the old spring. This frog is said to be of vast proportions, and to croak away year after year with a thunderous voice that can be heard at a great distance, as is characteristic of old croakers. The old croakers seem to be long-lived. Their wailing notes, always telling of storms of troubles, may be heard in every community and in every church. Perhaps they are necessary to try the nerves and patience of the saints.

Band Uniforms Arrive.

The Ada band received its uniforms yesterday and they are beautiful. The coats are dark blue trimmed in gold braid and the pants are two shades lighter than the coats with a wide white stripe down the outside seam. They cost $250. One hundred and twenty-five of this has been paid and the balance is due. The band will have another concert Friday night, June 19th, and we hope the good people of Ada will come out and help the band pay for their uniforms. The program will appear later in this paper.

Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular session, Allerman Little acting mayor in absence of Mayor Harrison. Minutes of previous meetings read and approved. Bills to the amount of $280.68 were allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the treasurer to pay same.

The resignation of W. H. Markham water commissioner was read and on motion was accepted by the council.

A proposition of the Ada Light & Gas Co. to furnish streets lights on all but moon light nights at $7 per month was accepted by the council, and contract ordered drawn to comply with same.

The cleaning up of the old pump at the city well was ordered, after some minor matters were attended to the council adjourned.

NAMES HIS BOARD

FOR LABORILLS

Farmers, Railroads and Miners are Represented in the Personnel.

Guthrie, Okla., June 13.—The long expected appointment of the members of the board of arbitration and conciliation, one of the most important to be made to the laboring interests, was announced tonight.

The members are as follows:

Geo. Britton, a coal miner, Coalgate, and M. R. Powell, printer, Oklahoma City, representing the employees; J. F. Holden, Muskogee, general manager of the Midland Valley railroad, and Thomas Bell, a coal operator, Hughes, Okla., representing the employers; T. C. Wyatt, Wanette, and A. N. Langdon, Lehigh, representing the farmers. State Labor commissioner Daugherty is chairman of the board.

Mr. Daugherty tonight announced the appointment of C. E. Warren of Tulsa as factory inspector.

DEATH OF THREE IN AVENGED BY FARMER

Negro Fugitive Killed in a Duel With Posseman Near McAlester.

McAlester, Okla., June 13.—As the result of a duel between E. H. Johnson, the negro fugitive who shot and killed Walter Roberts and mortally wounded Job Lound while they were fishing on a creek near Wilburton, thinking they were searching for him Wednesday evening, and Ben Nowlan, a farmer who headed a posse of four men that has been searching for the negro, Johnson was killed late this afternoon. Eight shots were exchanged. Nowlan was uninjured. The men fought at a distance of 60 yards.

Johnson killed Marshal Oliver Swan of Wilburton last September and escaped. Masquerading in a woman's dress Wednesday his identity was discovered by former United States Commissioner Phil Jones who informed the authorities.

Special Notice.

I wish to call attention to the meeting at the First Baptist church at 8:30 this evening, and on each evening this week. These meetings are especially for prayer for a revival of religion in Ada. All lovers of the Lord should be interested in this matter, and can join in these meetings. Everybody is invited to come.

They Work Fine.

The county prisoners in care of Dave Hybarger are working fine. The old saying a well fed horse will work well, works well in this instance. Yesterday the whole bunch had a picnic. They were at work near the O. C. railroad crossing and their dinner was sent out to them and they enjoyed the spread immensely. The News reported asked one of the prisoners if they had plenty to eat and he replied he had. That the food Sheriff Smith was giving them was wholesome and good. Mr. Smith is to be commended for taking such good care of the unfortunates.

GOVERNOR HASKELL WILL STOP

FRED S. CALDWELL ATTORNEY

The Editor of the Democrat is Water-Bound Out of Ardmore on the Santa Fe.

Guthrie, Ok., June 15.—Under the prohibition enforcement law which gives the governor power to appoint a special attorney to enforce the provisions of the law, Governor Haskell today commissioned Fred S. Caldwell, of Oklahoma City, as council to the governor to enforce the prohibition law. Since the enactment of the Billups law the governor left the enforcement of the prohibition law in the hands of the attorney general, but the growing demands for aid in prosecuting the violators of the law rendered it necessary for a special attorney to devote his time exclusively to this work. The governor says that the law must be enforced. I started home tonight but learned of a terrible wind and hail storm south of Purcell and that there were no trains running. The conditions north of here are just as bad, all trains being indefinitely late. After being waterbound four weeks in Ardmore I am waterbound four weeks out of it—Ardmore Democrat.

Railroad Building in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Ok., June 14.—Steel to the St. Louis and Oklahoma Southern, which is building from Monett Mo., to Talequah, has been shipped from the Illinois Steel Company plant direct to Talequah, and as soon as it arrives the construction crew will begin laying it. Forty miles have been graded from Talequah and Southwest City, the graders working at each end of the line. A big celebration is being planned as soon as the crossing is laid over the Frisco, two miles of Talequah. Muskogee will be the headquarters of the road during its construction. The road is being built by the Monett and South Western construction company, which has offices in the Commonwealth Trust Company Building in St. Louis and in Muskogee. The company has a land department, which is in the hands of C. L. Stoner and J. E. Elto of St. Louis and W. D. Ford of Muskogee. The Oklahoma attorneys of the road are Baker and Pursel of Muskogee.

Manager Kinnifick of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railway, having been successful in his trip to Paris France, in making the necessary arrangements for finances, the indications are that work will begin at one on that road. The projected road has been surveyed to Carpenter Bluff on Red River, south of Durant. Either Denison or Sherman, Tex., will be the immediate terminus of the line.

The Vanishing Fleets

By ROY NORTON

New York had been heralded from coast to coast, and the administration, besieged for information, yielded to the popular demand and gave out the history of the war, including the account of the invention and the creation of the plant on the Florida key. The little inventor and his daughter were thrown into the lime-light, and exaggerated accounts of their marvelous work were spread over pages of extras wherever newspapers were printed. The public insistently clamored for news, more news, throughout the hours, and seemed never satiated.

All eyes were turned to the president, who finally, in desperation, declined to make any further statements, and announced that details would have to come in later sequence, when time could be given to their dictation.

From the great republic the cloak of mystery and inaction was thrown aside and the cords to the north and the south were being dissipated as if by magic. That menacing line of blue along the Canadian border was crumbling with greater rapidity than it had been formed. Here and there through the air swept 50 radioplanes carrying improvised passenger accommodations, the sun showing them as flashing birds of blue carrying the hosts of the guard back to their armories, whence they might return to their homes and occupations of peace.

In every city throughout the land astonished and exultant inhabitants watched these friendly monsters which had made the nation the most redoubtable in all the world. The gulls of the border were now standing unguarded, the bivouacs obliterated, and the paths of the sentries abandoned to the effacement of nature's kindly growth.

Seattle was at last liberated, and proceeded to astonish the world with accounts of the imprisonment of the Japanese fleet which had rested in the waters of Lake Washington for so many days. Photographs of it were broadcast, together with interviews gained from the commanders of the hapless expedition, and by special permission Admiral Kamigawa was allowed to cable to his government the first full report of his disaster which went through uncensored and unchecked. The fact was made patent to Japan that her men were prisoners on board, her ships trapped in a helpless position, and their fate resting entirely on the mercy of the government.

As if to add to the sense of perplexity, Tokio Journal of the destruction of the British ships, and knew that any of all alliances could not be ended upon in the presence of such mighty Americans could but be beaten.

Another day dawned in Washington, bringing with it the unconditional capitulation of Japan. She consented for peace with Germany and left the signature of terms to the nation with whom she had fought Japan, trusting to her magnanimity. Congress had been called into being again and, imbued with the spirit which had actuated the president through all his siege of stress and trial, followed his wishes. The lone man in the White House loomed as something more than mortal, and was at last being appreciated.

Japan was told that the United States demanded neither indemnities nor retention of the conquered fleet. For the benefit of the public the latter would be convoyed to New York bay, where it would be liberated and restored to its crews. The only condition was that on its return to Pacific waters it must withdraw all men it had placed in the Philippines and Hawaii, and restore the American flag with appropriate salutes.

This then was the end of the great venture by the island across the western sea, which had staked its hope of advancement upon a ruthless descent on an unprepared and apparently impotent nation. It had spent years in anticipation, had purchased the most deadly agents of destruction when ever presented, had worked night and day in its navy yards to build giant ships of war, had covered the United States with its spies until its espionage reached everywhere, and all for this!

Now, after all its deliberate plans and quick action, it was to accept as a sole cause for jubilation the return of the men who had manned its mighty fleet, and wait for the return of ships that were useless for all purposes. Its dream of indemnities was gone, its ambition for more territory was never to be realized, and its hope of competing with other great powers as a world factor had come to naught.

It is doubtful if the government shared in the joy of those who had given up for dead the ones they loved and were now enabled to cast aside scars of mourning. The Japanese were to learn that one successful war does not constitute a series, and that all nations were not inefficient. The lesson of civilization had been hammered home with sickening emphasis.

Scarcely had peace been concluded when the administration by a declaration to its own people cut as with one blow of a knife a knot which threatened financial panic. It was prefaced with a statement that the reason why no indemnities had been demanded from Japan was because under altered conditions following the war it would impose a hardship on

AT CHICAGO

THE PLATFORM FIGHT IS ON IN REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

ANTI-INJUNCTION PLAN CAUSING TROUBLE

Labor and Employers Actively Represented in the Skirmishes Now Going on in Chicago—Tarin Stands Practically Settled.

Chicago, June 14.—The one big fight of the convention which was bound to come, no matter how overwhelming the majority for Taft, began today. Several separate conferences, some of which were composed of delegates and others of leaders in business and labor organizations, were in simultaneous progress. The most open contest is over an injunction plank.

Samuel Gompers, together with other leaders of the American federation of labor, met this afternoon to perfect their plank, which was to be presented both to the committee on resolutions and to the convention itself. In a hundred different halls in Chicago, where labor organizations hold their Sunday meetings, conferences were held in order that the labor program might be shown to have the solid backing of organized labor.

In the rooms of President Van Cleave of the National Manufacturers' association a group discussed the injunction plank from a business viewpoint.

The republican leaders from New England got together and in the name of their states protested against any preference to injunction processes in the republican platform. Speaker Cannon also voiced his protest and insisted that any reference to a restriction of injunctions would be a reflection upon the house. The tentatively. It, too, will be vigorously opposed before the committee on resolutions, but Secretary Taft has been especially insistent upon a declaration on this subject expressing his views. The secretary was the first among the presidential candidates to declare in favor of a revision of the tariff. Long before revision was popular in republican circles Mr. Taft, in a speech in Bath, Me., expressed his belief that the business conditions of the country demanded it.

Revision was declared for in the Ohio platform and went before the country in time to force similar declarations in other state platforms. The platform will declare for a revision of the tariff at a special session of congress, to be called immediately after the inauguration of the next president. It will endorse the action of congress appointing a committee from the house to investigate conditions and schedules. The most significant expression in the platform practically incorporates a sentence from one of Secretary Taft's public utterances on the subject. It is one of the most popular expressions among republican tariff revisionists, namely, that reduction shall mark the difference "between the production at home and the cost of production abroad."

Japan was told that the United States demanded neither indemnities nor retention of the conquered fleet. For the benefit of the public the latter would be convoyed to New York bay, where it would be liberated and restored to its crews. The only condition was that on its return to Pacific waters it must withdraw all men it had placed in the Philippines and Hawaii, and restore the American flag with appropriate salutes.

The City of Ada

A host invites all the balance of Pontotoc to be her guests on the 4th of July. The occasion will be a big basket picnic and barbecue and appropriate celebration in commemoration of the birth of this great republic.

Ada is proud to be the county seat of such a fine county as Pontotoc and feels duly regardful of those outlying districts and cities in the county which have reflected so creditably and profitably on her in such material and substantial manner.

Ada wants to warm with the balance of the county.

Come to Ada on the 4th and be her guest for the day and if you are not entertained properly it will be an "error of the head and not the heart."

There will be on hand brass bands and statesmen, great fireworks display, and every character of legitimate amusement. The people of the county will get acquainted on that day, and enjoy, all together, the biggest public dinner ever served in the Chicksaw country.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's for One Thing Only.
Nothing can be good for everything.
Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys.
They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is evidence to prove it.

Mrs. C. Floyd, wife of C. Floyd, car inspector for the M. K. & T. railroad, and living on East Houston street, Muskogee, I. T., says: "Both my husband and myself have used Doan's Kidney Pills with most satisfactory results. For a long time I was troubled with attacks of kidney complaint and inflammation of the bladder which greatly disturbed my rest nights on account of the too frequent action of the secretions, and which was accompanied with pain. I used numerous remedies but obtained only relief for the time being. A lady friend of mine told me of Doan's Kidney Pills and so strongly urged me to try them that I got a box. I was not disappointed in the results obtained. They went direct to the root of the disease and I felt better after the first few doses, and when I had taken them a short time the pain in my back disappeared and the action of the kidney secretions was rendered normal and natural."

CORPORATION COMMISSION.

The fellow who is sore because his corporation is being compelled to give the people a square deal will howl about the great cost of this commission. Let the people understand however that the first year of the corporation commission with everything to organize and regulations to be accomplished requires more money than will be needed in later years but the cost of this commission is but a drop in the bucket compared with the good they will do us.

TEACHING AGRICULTURE.

We said in our constitution that Agriculture horticulture stock raising etc should be taught in our schools. Thanks to Speaker Muria our laws put that provision of the constitution into practical effect.

EVINENT DOMAIN.

The right to acquire land whereon to build a railroad lay a pipe line build a water power plant open public roads build school houses etc is necessary in order that the wheels of progress and development may not be delayed. The legislature gave us a practical law on this subject and at the same time the land owner must have his pay and our law says he shall get his money the minute they take possession of his land. Our law makes the matter speedy simple and with a minimum amount of court expenses and gives the land owner his pay more promptly than three fourths of the other states of the union. Thanks to Senator Thomas and others.

LIBOR DAY.

Our legislature says that Labor Day shall be recognized as a legal holiday. This was a just compliment to the men who make our state worth living in. Thanks to Senator Yeager and Representative Vandeventer.

CORPORATION FEES.

The Oklahoma Territory law claims a uniform fee of Ten dollars or chartered corporations no matter how big nor how little. The new law of the State of Oklahoma says that the corporation fee to be paid the State shall be one tenth of one per cent of the authorized capital stock with a minimum fee of three dollars. This will produce probably seventy or eighty thousand dollars per year for the state. Thanks to Senators Russell and Franklin and Representative Hudson.

GRADUATED LAND TAX.

The owners of great tracts of land thousands of acres being held by one person is disastrous to the welfare of any community. No neighborhood can prosper where a huge part of its land is owned in great areas by nonresident land owners. Give us the medium sized farm with the owner living on it and we will show you a prosperous progressive community. The graduated land tax will have the effect of producing this condition. Thanks to Senator's initiatives Stimers Ben Williams Ben Harrison and Senator Russell.

INHERITANCE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times ridicules our legislature for taxing everything in sight. That paper is owned by a bunch of lawyers and edited by a hired man who don't want to see anything taxed but the farmers and small home owners. Our legislature did not agree with that idea and therefore inheritances above ten thousand dollars to the widow and five thousand dollars to the direct heir has a per cent of tax when graduated according to the amount. Thanks to Representative Anthony.

GROSS REVENUE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times kicks about a tax on gross revenues but our legislature believes that where productions of coal oil expressed earnings and the like practically escape ad valorem taxation that they should make it up to the other tax payers by a production tax. The legislature of Oklahoma does not intend to tax anybody's property twice, and it may take a little time to do justice to all but they do not intend to let large properties escape taxation in the future as they used to in the old Territory days. Thanks to Representatives Hart Anthony and Smith (of Grant County) and Senator Strain.

PURE FOOD.

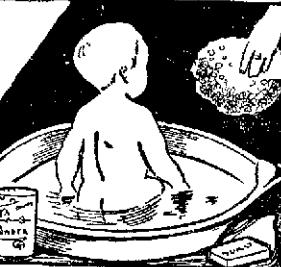

Thanks to Senator Williams Oklahoma has what is conceded to be the best pure food law of any state in the union. Among other good features apple raisers will find a great benefit in having apple vinegar free from competition with cheap acid vinegar.

To many the umpire is a mysterious being. In fact years and years of careful work bring recognition to the umpire and then the strain of all the battles that prepares the leagues offers for a more peaceful pastime than being the third party on the diamond.

The umpire never comes to the ball ground with the players. He is usually alone. He shows up protector and mask in hand about game time and the moment the contest is over is lost in the crowd. While he is just as much in the public eye as the idols of the teams yet he is seldom noticed.

Few persons see any desirable qualities in an umpire particularly when the home team is losing. When they are winning the people haven't any time to waste on an ordinary umpire. The players get the attention yet this quiet mysterious strange person is just as essential to the game as the pitcher or catcher. He represents the authority of base ball. No two umpire are alike all of them have their peculiarities. It is sometimes difficult to recognize the difference of certain players world from the stands but among the players the umpire's weak points are instantly noted. If he gives in inch his usefulness is lost the mask is gone. Only the non hand dealt without sin or favor respects for an umpire. Now fans who ever umpire's game don't root him help him encourage him for he is human. Let's have good clean base ball for Ada. J. O. CUTTINS

Over 2,000 Men in Admiral Thomas' Fleet Want Better Berths.

There is a strike on in the fleet. Over 2,000 men in Admiral Thomas' armada have gone out for better positions and higher wages. But the most remarkable fact about this strike is that it is perfectly agreeable to the employers. In fact the Navy Department and the officers of the fleet encourage it in every possible way, for these men are endeavoring to get their demands by conforming to the regulations put in force by the Navy Department for the promotion of enlisted men.

In 1901, Congress passed what is ordinarily known as the Personnel Act, which enables enlisted men in the service to become commissioned officers—something that before this was only possible for Annapolis graduates. The result of this law has been very beneficial, encouraging men in the navy to study for promotion and thus acquire the good habits and conduct that the study habit carries with it, and involuntarily forcing them to learn more of the theory of their work. Consequently there has been noticed a marked betterment in the efficiency of the service.

It is no ordinary sight to observe one of the Admiral's tars after the watch has been "piped below" getting his "ditty-box" and spreading his "caking mat" in a comfortable place and making a recitation on Nautical Astronomy—a recitation that is to be sent by mail to his correspondence school professor; for it is through the correspondence schools that most of the men secure their theoretical training.

The International Correspondence Schools, of Scranton, Pa., alone have over 2,000 students in the fleet that are now sailing up the Pacific. Of the 22 enlisted men who have so far secured commissions as ensigns under the Personnel Act of 1901, 14 have been I. C. S. students. On account of the mammoth organization of this great institution it is possible for its students on board the fleet not only to send in their recitations from every port of call, but to actually come in contact with the representatives of the schools at most of the points at which the fleet will touch. These schools have agencies at Bermuda, Buenos Ayres, Panama, San Francisco; and if the fleet should come home through the Suez Canal the men could find established agencies at Honolulu, Manila, Shanghai, Bombay, Singapore, Alexandria, etc.

The Navy Department has granted every inducement for the men to study through the opportunity afforded by the International Correspondence Schools. On each ship in the fleet there is an Instructor and representative of the schools who looks after the interests of the students on board and help them in their studies. It was through the warm interest that Admiral Evans had for this institution that it was possible to secure the great concession of having these instructors appointed on United States ships.

In speaking of the work accomplished by the I. C. S. among enlisted men, Admiral Dewey says: "I am glad to learn that so many men in the naval service have taken and are taking advantage of the excellent system which these Schools follow. I have heard many favorable opinions expressed in regard to their work."

On board many of the ships study quarters have been fitted up where students may have quiet and all conveniences for progressing in their Courses. Admiral Chas. M. Thomas, in charge of the fleet has expressed himself as being amazed at the wonderful progress his men have been able to make.

The advancement of enlisted men in the Navy is only one branch of the enormous work carried on by this great factory of trained brains—the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. For 16 years they have been occupied in the sole business of providing ambitious men and women in all trades and professions, in all conditions and circumstances of life, with the training that would qualify them for higher positions, better salaries, and successful lives.

That they have been successful in doing this is proved by the gigantic growth to which this institution has attained. Sixteen years ago it was a mere experiment with one Course of Instruction. It is now in many ways the largest educational institution in the world, with 208 Courses of instruction. The proprietors of the institution have a capital of $6,000,000; own and occupy 5 buildings, covering over 300,000 square feet of floor space; they have a private printing plant turning out 3½ tons of printed matter per day; a mailing department handling 15,000 pieces of mail every 24 hours; 3,000 employees; and an instruction staff competent to handle the work of 3,000 students each day.

The original preparation of the instruction matter for these schools cost $1,500,000, and every year there is spent a quarter of a million in revising and improving this instruction matter.

Hundreds of thousands of men have secured advancement through I. C. S. training. Carpenters have become architects; machinists have become superintendents; and clerks have become managers and proprietors of businesses of their own. Not only have men advanced in their own trades and professions, but men working in uncongenial occupations have changed to more pleasant work where advancement was quicker and greater; and young men wishing to learn a trade or profession have been enabled through I. C. S. Courses to enter the trade of their choice and at the start have secured a position paying a good salary.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Ahrenbeck Delivers Two Interesting Sermons to Large Congregations.

The services at the First Presbyterian church Sunday were appreciated by large congregations. The music was inspiring, the special feature of the evening program being a beautiful anthem. This is to be an attractive part of the services every Sunday.

The sermon in the morning was from the text, "Unto Him Be Glory in the Church by" Jesus Christ Throughout All Ages World Without End. Amen." Eph. 3-21.

The minister took up the emphatic words in succession which, he said were like sea shells brought all the way from the shore and resonant with musical echoes from the ocean of eternity.

The first word emphasized was glory. This meant hallelujah—praise the Lord—glory be to God! Man's chief end is to glorify God. God is not an infinite egotist demanding worship at the expense of humanity. This glory consists in blessing humanity at His own expense and it reaches its consummation in the sacrifice of His own Son. He requires worship because in no other way can man reach highest moral development. Morality, generosity, and all the virtues of humanitarianism dependent on religion. Destroy worship and you destroy civilization. Glory to God in the highest is the key note to angels song and must be the key note to every song sung by mortal lips below.

2. The second emphatic word was church. Glory to God in the church. God has a great cathedral for the manifestation of his glory. The great temple of humanity co-extensive with the entire race is God's great Catholic church resonant every where with praise to God. All things work together in divine harmony for the glory of God and in unison for the benefit of humanity. Even wrath of man is made to praise him, and sinful murmurings arise like deep base notes contributing hoarse amen to the glory of God's justice.

3. Jesus Christ. Glory to God in the church by Jesus Christ. Christ is the architect of the church and author of its sacred music. By Him all things are reconciled or harmonized. Without him we would not have the opportunity, nor the inclination, nor the means of glorifying God. He deserves our highest praise and some day He will get it. Some day we shall hear the Hallelujah chorus when the infinite multitude redeemed by his blood will be gathered together and the skies shall vibrate with the symphony of ten thousand golden harps and every eye shall be fixed on Him and every tongue confess that he is Lord to the glory of God.

4. Glory to be God in the church by Jesus Christ throughout all ages world without end. This phrase is equivalent to eternity. Paul was aware of the fact that whatever a man does shall last forever. Even the words that fall from our lips go vibrating into eternity and nothing, not even the everlasting ages, not even the power of God, not even the precious blood of Christ can recall the echo!

Shall we not sing a song of which we need never be ashamed? Shall we not bring our lives in harmony with God's purposes. In time with the infinite and so "make of life, death and the great beyond one grand sweet song." No man can make a greater mistake than to live for time when any moment may launch him into eternity, because time is too short to lost a single hour in learning the key note of heaven's hallelujah chorus and eternity too long to spend in the darkness of hell, the basement of God's cathedral where the only part the lost can contribute to the glory of God will be the weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth.

5. The closing word is amen—the most significant word for sinful men. In it is all the consolation of the gospel. All that God asks of us in beginning the christian life is to say amen—not like a parrot, but with a determination to do our best in living christian lives. Angels can do no more.

We cannot give adequate expression of our devotion, but we can say amen. We can not save our own souls, but we can endorse what Christ has done. This is all God asks in beginning the christian life, the soul's approbation to his gracious scheme of redemption. Listening to this doxology and bearing in mind what Christ has done and what he will yet do, our hearts break forth in one grand responsive and unanimous amen. Hallelujah!

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of those weaknesses.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition.

Thou must save and thou alone. The sermon in the evening was from the text, "And They That Are Wise Shall Shine as the Brightness of the Firmament and They That Turn Many to Righteousness Like the Stars Forever and Ever." Dan. 12-3.

We regret that space will not permit us to give more of Rev. Ahrenbeck's evening sermon, but will say those who were fortunate enough to hear it are high in their praises, the sermon was only of 40 minutes duration, but every sentence was forceful and to the point his members appreciated him very much.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or blow it out early colds. That's surely better. That's why they call it "Preventics." Preventics are little Candy Gold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—if you please. If you ache all over, think of Preventics. Preventics may also save half your annual sickness, if don't forget to take it. If there is feverishness, night or day, Preventics probably live Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sermon by Pastor D. J. Austin, North Ada.

Text, Math. 24:12. Iniquity Illustrated.

A man digging a well in Minnesota discovered an old Spanish gunboat which has recently been completely unearthed. The impression is that the boat was run up into that region by the early Spanish discoverers about the year 1600, when a much larger part of the state was under water than now. Five cannon and two mortars and a large number of cannon balls were found on board. The gunboat was found in the bed of a creek, which was no doubt in the old time a navigable river. As the years have passed by, it has been covered over completely by the soil, until thus discovered by accident. It is interesting as a curiosity, but worthless as a gunboat. A great many churches are in that condition. They belong to another age. Instead of keeping pace with the current of the world, floating on the bosom of its life, keeping in touch with its living heart, they have been covered over with its drift and forgotten. They are interesting relics of the dead past, but are worthless as allies in the capture of the world for Christ. Almost every church has some members in the same condition.

There is plenty of room in Ada and every other community for "A Don't Worry Society." Christ intended the church to be that society. Worry is inseparable from a sinful or a faithful soul. If we believe in God and are sure we are at peace with him, then we can live without worry and can utter the language of Isaiah: "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song." Little men require much room. If Lot had been as large a man, in mind and heart, as Abraham there would have been plenty of room for them both in the same country; but Lot was a little man with enormous greed. There are lots of lots. It is hard for such men to live in peace any where, especially when the winds blow and the rains descend; they are sure to worry and trouble. Such men as Lot need some sort of moral surgical operation to open their hearts and give the room for a larger vision.

We must beware of little things that will shut off our supply of spiritual power. A fast express train was brought to a standstill in a strange way. The fireman found that it was impossible to keep up steam. Examination showed that only a very small amount of water was coming through the feed pipe. Further investigation was made, with the result of discovering a big eel in the pipe. The eel had probably been sucked up into the water tank when quite small. Many a train of righteous influence, making for the salvation of men, has been stopped by an equally insignificant cause. There must be no wriggling eel of selfishness in the spiritual feed pipe. Where iniquity abounds frigidity of love is sure to exist.

It is a terrible thing to have people depend on us and resort to us in time of great need, and have only a frozen heart to show them. In one of our large cities a fire that with proper resources could have been quickly extinguished spread to enormous proportions and destroyed a large amount of property because the firemen found the water frozen in the first hydrant they undertook to use. Revival of religion and attempts to put out the fires of sin and iniquity in the community are often hindered in the same way. The hydrant of the water of life in some minister or layman who stands in the necessary relation to the work in hand is frozen up.

The condition of a great many people whom we meet in the churches, in whom religion at some time has been at high water mark, and they have retained certain ice-rings of reminiscence, which they are always exhibiting, but the current of spiritual life no longer surges in their hearts. So it is a deplorable fact that where iniquity abounds "the love of many is sure to wax cold."

In this age of progression we should abandon moss-back ways, cease our excavations for the old gunboat and re-embark abroad the ship Zion with up-to-date equipage, pray the little lots into contentment, remove the eels, warm up the hydrants with omnipotent love; and don't be a croaker. A strange story comes from the historic old Ritchie place in Kentucky. There is on the place an old log spring house, built at the beginning of the century. A never-failing stream of ice-cold water flows into this old house, forming a pool several feet deep. Here it is alleged a giant frog has had its home since it was built. As the frog family is endowed with great longevity. What lends color to this theory is the fact that where has never been

but one frog seen in the neighborhood of the old spring. This frog is said to be of vast proportions, and to croak away year after year with a thunderous voice that can be heard at a great distance, as is characteristic of old croakers. The old croakers seem to be long-lived. Their wailing notes, always telling of storms of troubles, may be heard in every community and in every church. Perhaps they are necessary to try the nerves and patience of the saints.

Band Uniforms Arrive.

The Ada band received its uniforms yesterday and they are beauties. The coats are dark blue trimmed in gold braid and the pants are two shades lighter than the coats with a wide white stripe down the outside seam. They cost $250. One hundred and twenty-five of this has been paid and the balance is due. The band will have another concert Friday night, June 19th, and we hope the good people of Ada will come out and help the band pay for their uniforms. The program will appear later in this paper.

Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular session, Alderman Little acting mayor in absence of Mayor Harrison. Minutes of previous meetings read and approved. Bills to the amount of $280.63 were allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the treasurer to pay same.

The resignation of W. H. Markham water commissioner was read and on motion was accepted by the council.

A proposition of the Ada Light & Gas Co. to furnish streets lights on all but moon light nights at $7 per month was accepted by the council, and contract ordered drawn to comply with same.

The cleaning up of the old pump at the city well was ordered, after some minor matters were attended to the council adjourned.

Negro Fugitive Killed in a Duel With Posseman Near McAlester.

McAlester, Okla., June 13.—As the result of a duel between E. H. Johnson, the negro fugitive who shot and killed Walter Roberts and mortally wounded Job Lound while they were fishing on a creek near Wilburton, thinking they were searching for him Wednesday evening, and Ben Nowlan, a farmer who headed a posse of four men that has been searching for the negro, Johnson was killed late this afternoon. Eight shots were exchanged. Nowlan was uninjured. The men fought at a distance of 60 yards.

Johnson killed Marshal Oliver Swan of Wilburton last September and escaped. Masquerading in a woman's dress Wednesday his identity was discovered by former United States Commissioner Phil Jones who informed the authorities.

Special Notice.

I wish to call attention to the meeting at the First Baptist church at 8:30 this evening, and on each evening this week. These meetings are especially for prayer for a revival of religion in Ada. They Work Fine.

The county prisoners in care of Dave Hybarger are working fine. The old saying a well fed horse will work well, works well in this instance. Yesterday the whole bunch had a picnic. They were at work near the O. C. railroad crossing and their dinner was sent out to them and they enjoyed the spread immensely. The News reported asked one of the prisoners if they had plenty to eat and he replied he had. That the food Sheriff Smith was giving them was wholesome and good. Mr. Smith is to be commended for taking such good care of the unfortunate.

LAW MUST BE ENFORCED

GOVERNOR HASKELL WILL STOP THE SALE OF BOOZE.

FRED S. CALDWELL ATTORNEY

The Editor of the Democrat is Water-bound Out of Ardmore on the Santa Fe.

Guthrie, Ok., June 15.—Under the prohibition enforcement law which gives the governor power to appoint a special attorney to enforce the provisions of the law, Governor Haskell today commissioned Fred S. Caldwell, of Oklahoma City, as council to the governor to enforce the prohibition law. Since the enactment of the Billups law the governor left the enforcement of the prohibition law in the hands of the attorney general, but the growing demands for aid in prosecuting the violators of the law rendered it necessary for a special attorney to devote his time exclusively to this work. The governor says that the law must be enforced. I started home tonight but learned of a terrible wind and hail storm south of Purcell and that there were no trains running. The conditions north of here are just as bad, all trains being indefinitely late. After being waterbound four weeks in Ardmore I am waterbound four weeks out of it.—Ardmore Democrat.

Railroad Building in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Ok., June 14.—Steel to the St. Louis and Oklahoma Southern, which is building from Monett, Mo., to Talequah, has been shipped from the Illinois Steel Company plant direct to Talequah, and as soon as it arrives the construction crew will begin laying it. Forty miles have been graded from Talequah and Soutwest City, the graders working at each end of the line. A big celebration is being planned as soon as the crossing is laid over the Frisco, two miles of Talequah. Muskogee will be the headquarters of the road during its construction. The road being built by the Monett and Southwestern construction company, which has offices in the Commonwealth Trust Company Building in St. Louis and in Muskogee. The company is a land department, which is in the hands of C. L. Stoner and J. E. Elce of St. Louis and W. D. Ford of Muskogee. The Oklahoma attorneys of the road are Baker and Purcell of Muskogee.

Manager Kinnick of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railway, having been successful in his trip to Paris, France, in making the necessary arrangements for trunks, the indictions are that work will begin at once on that road. The projected road has been surveyed to carry the line on Red River, south of Duran, either Denison or Sherman. Tex., will be the immediate terminus of the line.

The Vanishing Fleets

By ROY NORTON

New York had been heralded from coast to coast, and the administration, besieged for information, yielded to the popular demand and gave out the history of the war, including the account of the invention and the creation of the plant on the Florida key. The little inventor and his daughter were thrown into the limelight, and exaggerated accounts of their marvelous work were spread over pages of extras wherever newspapers were printed. The public insistently clamored for news, more news, throughout the hours, and seemed never sated.

All eyes were turned to the president, who finally, in desperation, declined to make any further statements, and announced that details would have to come in later sequence, when time could be given to their dictation.

From the great republic the cloak of mystery and inaction was thrown aside and the cordon to the north and the south were being dissipated as if by magic. That menacing line of blue along the Canadian border was crumbling with greater rapidity than had been formed. Here and there through the air swept 50 radioplances carrying improvised passenger accommodations, the sun showing them as flashing birds of blue carrying the hosts of the guard back to their armories, whence they might return to their homes and occupations of peace. In every city throughout the land astonished and exultant inhabitants watched these friendly monsters which had made the nation the most redoubtable in all the world. The guns of the border were now standing unguarded, the bivouacs obliterated, and the paths of the sentries abandoned to the effacement of nature's kindly growth.

Seattle was at last liberated, and proceeded to astonish the world with accounts of the imprisonment of the Japanese fleet, which had rested in the waters of Lake Washington for so many days. Photographs of it were sent broadcast, together with interviews gained from the commanders of the hapless expedition, and by special permission Admiral Kamigawa was allowed to cable to his government the first full report of his disaster which went through uncensored and unchecked. The fact was made patent to Japan that her men were prisoners in a foreign land, trapped in a harbor, and that the responsibility of the government of the United States was responsible for the capture of the fleet. The Japanese fleet had been captured and was being held as a trophy, and, meeting with the usual other difficulties of the present, though it had since been released and had escaped its whale. The ten days in the White House had been a continual source of mortification and was at last being appreciated.

Japan was told that the United States demanded neither indemnities nor retention of the captured fleet. For the benefit of the public the latter would be conveyed to New York bay, where it would be liberated and restored to its crews. The only condition was that on its return to Pacific waters it must withdraw all men it had placed in the Philippines and Hawaii, and restore the American flag with appropriate salutes.

This then was the end of the great venture by the island across the western sea, which had staked its hope of advancement upon a ruthless descent on an unprepared and apparently impotent nation. It had spent years in anticipation, had purchased the most deadly agents of destruction when ever presented, had worked night and day in its navy yards to build giant ships of war, had covered the United States with its spies until its espionage reached everywhere, and all for this!

Now, after all its deliberate plans and quick action, it was to accept as a sole cause for jubilation the return of the men who had manured its mighty fleet, and wait for the return of ships that were useless for all purposes. Its dream of indemnities was gone. Its ambition for more territory was never to be realized, and its hope of competing with other great powers as a world factor had come to naught.

It is doubtful if the government shared in the joy of those who had given up for dead the ones they loved and were now enabled to cast aside scars of mourning. The Japanese were to learn that one successful war does not constitute a series, and that all nations were not inefficient. The lesson of civilization had been hammered home with sickening emphasis.

Scarcely had peace been concluded when the administration by a declaration to its own people cut as with one blow of a knife a knot which threatened financial panic. It was prefaced with a statement that the reason why no indemnities had been demanded from Japan was because under altered conditions following the war it would be imposing a hardship on

THE PLATFORM FIGHT IS ON IN REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Labor and Employers Actively Represented in the Skirmishes Now Going on in Chicago—Tariff Stands Practically Settled.

Chicago, June 14.—The one big fight of the convention which was bound to come, no matter how overwhelming the majority for Taft, began today. Several separate conferences; some of which were composed of delegates and others of leaders in business and labor organizations, were in simultaneous progress. The most open contest is over an injunction plank.

Samuel Gompers, together with other leaders of the American Federation of Labor, met this afternoon to perfect their plank, which was to be presented both to the committee on resolutions and to the convention itself. In a hundred different halls in Chicago, where labor organizations hold their Sunday meetings, conferences were held in order that the labor program might be shown to have the solid backing of organized labor.

In the rooms of President Van Cleave of the National Manufacturers' association a group discussed the injunction plank from a business viewpoint. The republican leaders from New England got together and in the name of their states protested against any preference to injunction processes in the republican platform. Speaker Cannon also voiced his protest and insisted that any reference to a restriction of injunctions would be a reflection upon the house. The tentatively, it, too, will be vigorously opposed before the committee on resolutions, but Secretary Taft has been especially insistent upon a declaration on this subject expressing his views. The secretary was the first among the presidential candidates to declare in favor of a revision of the tariff. Long before revision was popular in republican circles Mr. Taft, in a speech in Bath, Me., expressed his belief that the business conditions of the country demanded it. Revision was declared for in the Ohio platform and went before the country in time to force similar declarations in other state platforms. The platform will declare for a revision of the tariff at a special session of congress, to be called immediately after the inauguration of the next president. It will endorse the action of congress appointing a committee from the house to investigate conditions and schedules. The most significant expression in the platform practically incorporates a sentence from one of Secretary Taft's public utterances on the subject. It is one of the most popular expressions among republican tariff revisionists, namely, that reduction shall mark the difference between the production at home and the cost of production abroad.

This then was the end of the great venture by the island across the western sea, which had staked its hope of advancement upon a ruthless descent on an unprepared and apparently impotent nation. It had spent years in anticipation, had purchased the most deadly agents of destruction when ever presented, had worked night and day in its navy yards to build giant ships of war, had covered the United States with its spies until its espionage reached everywhere, and all for this!

Now, after all its deliberate plans and quick action, it was to accept as a sole cause for jubilation the return of the men who had manured its mighty fleet, and wait for the return of ships that were useless for all purposes. Its dream of indemnities was gone. Its ambition for more territory was never to be realized, and its hope of competing with other great powers as a world factor had come to naught.

It is doubtful if the government shared in the joy of those who had given up for dead the ones they loved and were now enabled to cast aside scars of mourning. Scarcely had peace been concluded when the administration by a declaration to its own people cut as with one blow of a knife a knot which threatened financial panic. The City of Ada

A S host invites all the balance of Pontotoc to be her guests on the 4th of July. The occasion will be a big basket picnic and barbecue and appropriate celebration in commemoration of the birth of this great republic.

Ada is proud to be the county seat of such a fine county as Pontotoc and feels duly regardful of those outlying districts and cities in the county which have reflected so creditably and profitably on her in such material and substantial manner.

Ada wants to warm with the balance of the county.

Come to Ada on the 4th and be her guest for the day and if you are not entertained properly it will be an "error of the head and not the heart."

There will be on hand brass bands and statesmen, great fireworks display, and every character of legitimate amusement. The people of the county will get acquainted on that day, and enjoy, all together, the biggest public dinner ever served in the Chicksaw country.

HASKELL'S DEFENSE OF FIRST LEGIS- LATURE

CORPORATION COMMISSION.

The fellow who is sore because his corporation is being compelled to give the people a square deal will howl about the great cost of this commission. Let the people understand however that the first year of the corporation commission with everything to organize and regulations to be accomplished requires more money than will be needed in later years but the cost of this commission is but a drop in the bucket compared with the good they will do us.

TEACHING AGRICULTURE.

We said in our constitution that Agriculture horticulture stock raising etc should be taught in our schools. Thanks to Speaker Murray our laws put that provision of the constitution into practical effect

EVINENT DOMAIN.

The right to acquire land whereon to build a railroad lay a pipe line build a water power plant open pub roads build school houses etc is necessary in order that the wheels of progress and development may not be delayed. The legislature gave us a practical law on this subject and at the same time the land owner must have his pay and our law says he shall get his money the minute they take possession of his land. Our law makes the matter speedy simple and with a minimum amount of court expenses and gives the land owner his pay more promptly than three fourths of the other states of the union—thanks to Senator Thomas and others.

LABOR DAY.

Our legislature says that Labor Day shall be recognized as a legal holiday. This was a just compliment to the men who make our state worth living in. Thanks to Senator Yeager and Representative Vandeventer

CORPORATION FEES.

The Oklahoma Territory law called for a uniform set of ten dollars for charters, corporations no matter how big nor how little. The new law of the State of Oklahoma says that the corporation fee to be paid the State shall be one tenth of one per cent of the authorized capital stock with a minimum fee of three dollars. This will produce probably seventy or eighty thousand dollars per year revenue for the state thanks to Senators Russell and Franklin and Representative Hudson.

GRADUATED LAND TAX.

The owners of great tracts of land thousands of acres being held by one person in distinction to the welfare of any community. No neighborhood can prosper where a large part of its land is owned in great areas by non-resident land owners. Give us the medium sized farm with the owner living on it and we will have no trespassers. Progressive communities like the graduated land tax will have the effect of producing this condition. Thanks to Representatives Stimers Ben Williams Ben Harrison and Senator Russell.

INHERITANCE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times ridicules our legislature for taxing everything in sight. That paper is owned by a bunch of lawyers and edited by a hired man who don't want to see any thing taxed but the lumber and small home owners. Our legislature did not agree with that idea and therefore inherits above ten thousand dollars to the widow and five thousand dollars to the direct heir has a per cent of taxation graduated according to the amount. Thanks to Representative Anthony.

GROSS REVENUE TAX.

The Oklahoma City Times kicks about a tax on gross revenues but our legislature believes that where productions of coal oil expressed earnings and the like practically escape ad valorem taxation that they should make it up to the other tax payers by a production tax. The legislature of Oklahoma does not intend to tax anybody's property twice, and it may take a little time to do justice to all but they do not intend to let large properties escape taxation in the future as they used to in the old Territory days. Thanks to Representatives Hart Anthony and Smith (of Grant County) and Senator Strain

PURE FOOD.

Thanks to Senator Williams Oklahoma has what is conceded to be the best pure food law of any state in the union. Among other good features apple raisers will find a great benefit in having apple vinegar free from competition with cheap acid vinegar

Little Sympathy for the Umpire. To many the umpire is a mysterious being. In fact years and years of careful work bring recognition to the umpire and then the strain of all the battles that prepares the leagues offers for a more peaceful pastime than being the third party on the diamond.

The umpire never comes to the ball ground with the players. He is usually alone. He shows up protector and mask in hand about game time and the moment the contest is over is lost in the crowd. While he is just as much in the public eye as the idols of the teams yet he is seldom noticed.

Few persons see any desirable qualities in an umpire particularly when the home team is losing. When they are winning the people haven't any time to waste on an ordinary um-pire. The players get the attention yet this quiet mysterious strange person is just as essential to the game as the pitcher or catcher. He represents the authority of base ball.

No two umpires are alike all of them have their peculiarities. It is sometimes difficult to recognize the difference of certain players' work from the stands but among the players the umpire's weak points are instantly noted. If he gives in much his usefulness is lost. The mask is gone. Only the iron hand dealt without fear or favor forces respect for an umpire. Now this who ever umpires a game don't roast him help him encourage him for he is human. Let's have good clean baseball for Ada. —O. GUILFINS

Over 2,000 Men in Admiral Thomas' Fleet Want Better Berths.

There is a strike on in the fleet. Over 2,000 men in Admiral Thomas' armada have gone out for better positions and higher wages. But the most remarkable fact about this strike is that it is perfectly agreeable to the employers. In fact the Navy Department and the officers of the fleet encourage it in every possible way, for these men are endeavoring to get their demands by conforming to the regulations put in force by the Navy Department for the promotion of enlisted men.

In 1901, Congress passed what is ordinarily known as the Personnel

Act, which enables enlisted men in the service to become commissioned officers—something that before this was only possible for Annapolis graduates. The result of this law has been very beneficial, encouraging men in the navy to study for promotion and thus acquire the good habits and conduct that the study habit carries with it, and involuntarily forcing them to learn more of the theory of their work. Consequently there has been noticed a marked betterment

in the efficiency of the service.

It is no ordinary sight to observe one of the Admiral's tars after the watch has been "piped below"

getting his "ditty-box" and spreading his "calking mat" in a comfortable place and making a recitation on Nautical Astronomy—a recitation that is to be sent by mail to his correspondence school professor; for it is through the correspondence schools that most of the men secure their theoretical training.

The International Correspondence

Schools, of Scranton, Pa., alone have over 2,000 students in the fleet that is now sailing up the Pacific. Of the 25 enlisted men who have so far secured commissions as ensigns under the Personnel Act of 1901, 14 have been I. C. S. students. On account of the mammoth organization of this great institution it is possible for its

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Ahrenbeck Delivers Two Interesting Sermons to Large Congregations.

The services at the First Presbyterian church Sunday were appreciated by large congregations. The music was inspiring, the special feature of the evening program being a beautiful anthem. This is to be an attractive part of the services every Sunday.

The sermon in the morning was from the text, "Unto Him Be Glory in the Church by Jesus Christ
Throughout All Ages World Without End, Amen." Eph. 3:21.

The minister took up the emphatic words in succession which, he said were like sea shells brought all the way from the shore and resonant with musical echoes from the ocean of eternity.

The first word emphasized was glory. This meant hallelujah—praise the Lord—glory to God! Man's chief end is to glorify God. God is not an infinite egotist demanding worship at the expense of humanity. This glory consists in blessing humanity at His own expense and it reaches its consummation in the sacrifice of His own Son. He requires worship because in no other way can man reach highest moral development. Morality, generosity, and all the virtues of humanitarianism dependent on religion.
Destroy worship and you destroy civilization. Glory to God in the highest is the key note to angels song and must be the key note to every song sung by mortal lips below.

On board many of the ships study quarters have been fitted up where students may have quiet and all conveniences for progressing in their Courses. Admiral Chas. M. Thomas, in charge of the fleet has expressed himself as being amazed at the wonderful progress his men have been able to make.

The advancement of enlisted men in the Navy is only one branch of the enormous work carried on by this great factory of trained brains—the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa. For 16 years they have been occupied in the sole business of providing ambitious men and women in all trades and professions, in all conditions and circumstances of life, with the training that would qualify them for higher positions, better salaries, and successful lives.
That they have been successful in doing this is proved by the gigantic growth to which this institution has attained. Sixteen years ago it was a mere experiment with one Course of Instruction. It is now in many ways the largest educational institution in the world, with 208 Courses of Instruction. The proprietors of the institution have a capital of $6,000,000;
own and occupy 5 buildings covering over 300,000 square feet of floor space; they have a private printing plant turning out 3½ tons of printed matter per day; a mailing department handling 15,000 pieces of mail every 24 hours; 3,000 employees; and an instruction staff competent to handle the work of 3,000 students each day.

The original preparation of the instruction matter for these schools cost $1,500,000, and every year there is spent a quarter of a million in repairing and improving this instruction matter.

Hundreds of thousands of men have secured advancement through I. C. S. training. Carpenters have become architects; machinists have become superintendents; and clerks have become managers and proprietors of businesses of their own. Not only have men advanced in their own trades and professions, but men working in unconnected occupations have changed to more pleasant work where advancement was quicker and greater; and young men wishing to learn a trade or profession have been enabled through I. C. S. Courses to enter the trade of their choice and at the start have secured a position paying a good salary.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to convince you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic.
It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced.

Mrs. Cynthia Parker, mother of Howard Parker, formerly city editor of the News, arrived in the city this morning for a several days visit to Mrs. Barnett and other friends. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Smith.

We are now prepared to manufacture on short notice anything you may want that is practical to be constructed of concrete.

ADA CONSTRUCTION CO.

John H. Laird an old East Texas boy is in Ada visiting his uncle Hon. H. C. Thompson and will remain about ten days. John is from Kilgore, Gregg county, one of the oldest towns and counties in Texas, and where nothing but good people are bred, and from his section of Texas came most of the braves who died at the Alamo. We should like to see such young men as Mr. Laird locate among us.

Dog Tax Notice. I am instructed by the council to begin collecting dog tax and will begin impounding at once. Dog tax tags can be secured from the city clerk for one dollar.

GEO. CULVER. Chief of Police.

Mayor George Harrison returned this morning from a business trip to Kansas city and other points.

W. H. Fisher has just finished a new bridge across the creek northeast of town. The heavy rain last night put the water over it, but no damage was done to it.

The man and the monkey on the streets yesterday and today is attracting a good deal of attention, not only from the small boy but the grown up ones too.

Base Ball Park. The fence enclosing the base ball park is completed and work on the grand stand commenced this morning.

Be There. By all means be on hand tomorrow night if you are on any committee for the 4th of July Picnic.

Father Cleve.

A magnificent girl of nine pounds arrived at the home of Cleve Harris at Madill Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. M. Harris, parents of the young father were compelled to go to the scene to take care of Cleve.

NOTICE COMMITTEES. All committees appointed by the Club to arrange for the 4th of July Picnic are requested to meet at the 25,000 Club rooms, tomorrow (Wednesday) night. Your presence is requested.

Straight Car Long Leaf Lumber. J. Henry Collins, manager of the P. B. Wilson Lumber Co., in Ada a few days since sold to the county commissioners a straight car of Louisiana long leaf pine lumber. The continued heavy rains have done considerable damage to all bridges in this county and the lumber is to be used for repairing and replacing bridges washed out, also some new structures. We congratulate Henry and if it should be needed hope he will sell a hundred cars.

PICNIC JULY 4th. If you are on any of the committees for the 4th of July Picnic be on hand at the club rooms tomorrow night.

Sermon by Pastor D. J. Austin, North Ada.

Text, Math. 24:12. Iniquity Illustrated.

A man digging a well in Minnesota discovered an old Spanish gunboat which has recently been completely unearthed. The impression is that the boat was run up into that region by the early Spanish discoverers about the year 1600, when a much larger part of the state was under water than now. Five cannon and two mortars and a large number of cannon balls were found on board. The gunboat was found in the bed of a creek, which was no doubt in the old time a navigable river. As the years have passed by, it has been covered over completely by the soil, until thus discovered by accident. It is interesting as a curiosity, but worthless as a gunboat. A great many churches are in that condition. They belong to another age. Instead of keeping pace with the current of the world, floating on the bosom of its life, keeping in touch with its living heart, they have been covered over with its drift and forgotten. They are interesting relics of the dead past, but are worthless as allies in the capture of the world for Christ. Almost every church has some members in the same condition.

There is plenty of room in Ada and every other community for "A Don't Worry Society." Christ intended the church to be that society. Worry is inseparable from a sinful or a faithful soul. If we believe in God and are sure we are at peace with him, then we can live without worry and can utter the language of Isaiah: "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song." Little men require much room. If Lot had been as large a man, in mind and heart, as Abraham there would have been plenty of room for them both in the same country; but Lot was a little man with enormous greed. There are lots of Lots. It is hard for such men to live in peace anywhere, especially when the winds blow and the rains descend; they are sure to worry and tremble. Such men as Lot need some sort of moral surgical operation to open their hearts and give the room for a larger vision.

We must beware of little things that will shut off our supply of spiritual power. A fast express train was brought to a standstill in a strange way. The fireman found that it was impossible to keep up steam. Examination showed that only a very small amount of water was coming through the feed pipe. Further investigation was made, with the result of discovering a big eel in the pipe. The eel had probably been sucked up into the water tank when quite small. Many a train of righteous influence, making for the salvation of men, has been stopped by an equally insignificant cause. There must be no wriggling eel of selfishness in the spiritual feed pipe. Where iniquity abounds frigidity of love is sure to exist.

It is a terrible thing to have people depend on us and resort to us in time of great need, and have only a frozen heart to show them. In one of our large cities a fire that with proper resources could have been quickly extinguished spread to enormous proportions and destroyed a large amount of property because the firemen found the water frozen in the first hydrant they undertook to use. Revival of religion and attempts to put out the fires of sin and iniquity in the community are often hindered in the same way. The hydrant of the water of life in some minister or layman who stands in the necessary relation to the work in hand is frozen up.

The condition of a great many people whom we meet in the churches, in whom religion at some time has been at high water mark, and they have retained certain ice-rings of reminiscence, which they are always exhibiting, but the current of spiritual life no longer surges in their hearts. So it is a deplorable fact that where iniquity abounds "the love of many is sure to wax cold."

In this age of progression we should abandon moss-back ways, cease our excavations for the old gunboat and re-embark abroad the ship Zion with up-to-date equipage, pray the little Lot into contentment, remove the eels, warm up the hydrants with omnipotent love; and don't be a croaker. A strange story comes from the historic old Ritchie place in Kentucky. There is on the place an old log spring house, built at the beginning of the century. A never-failing stream of ice-cold water flows into this old house, forming a pool several feet deep. Here it is alleged a giant frog has had its home since it was built. As the frog family is endowed with great longevity, what lends color to this theory is the fact that there has never been

but one frog seen in the neighborhood of the old spring. This frog is said to be of vast proportions, and to croak away year after year with a thunderous voice that can be heard at a great distance, as is characteristic of old croakers. The old croakers seem to be long-lived. Their wailing notes, always telling of storms of troubles, may be heard in every community and in every church. Perhaps they are necessary to try the nerves and patience of the saints.

Ladies this is the last week. Miss Adams will be with you all. Just as well have a stylish hat made while you can get it at the sale prices. You will only pay actual cost for the material of the hat. No charge for trimming at the Grand Leader.

Band Uniforms Arrive.

The Ada band received its uniforms yesterday and they are beauties. The coats are dark blue trimmed in gold braid and the pants are two shades lighter than the coats with a wide white stripe down the outside seam. They cost $250. One hundred and twenty-five of this has been paid and the balance is due. The band will have another concert Friday night, June 19th, and we hope the good people of Ada will come out and help the band pay for their uniforms. The program will appear later in this paper.

Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular session, Allardner Little acting mayor in absence of Mayor Harrison. Minutes of previous meetings read and approved. Bills to the amount of $280.68 were allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the treasurer to pay same.

The resignation of W. H. Markham water commissioner was read and on motion was accepted by the council.

A proposition of the Ada Light & Gas Co. to furnish streets lights on all but moon light nights at $7 per month was accepted by the council, and contract ordered drawn to comply with same.

The cleaning up of the old pump at the city well was ordered, after some minor matters were attended to the council adjourned.

A Fine Girl.

Cleve Harris is the proud father of a fine girl baby born in Madill a few days ago. All doing well but Cleve.

NAMES HIS BOARD

FOR LABOR ILLS

Farmers, Railroads and Miners are Represented in the Personnel.

Guthrie, Okla., June 13.—The long expected appointment of the members of the board of arbitration and conciliation, one of the most important to be made to the laboring interests, was announced tonight.

The members are as follows:

Geo. Britton, a coal miner, Coalgate, and M. R. Powell, printer, Oklahoma City. Representing the employees: J. F. Holden, Muskogee, general manager of the Midland Valley railroad, and Thomas Bell, a coal operator, Hughes, Okla., representing the employers; T. C. Wyatt, Wanette, and A. N. Langdon, Lehigh, representing the farmers. State Labor commissioner Daugherty is chairman of the board.

Mr. Daugherty tonight announced the appointment of C. E. Warren of Tulsa as factory inspector.

DEATH OF THREE IN AVENGE BY FARMER

Negro Fugitive Killed in a Duel With Posseman Near McAlester.

McAlester, Okla., June 13.—As the result of a duel between E. H. Johnson, the negro fugitive who shot and killed Walter Roberts and mortally wounded Job Lound while they were fishing on a creek near Wilburton, thinking they were searching for him Wednesday evening, and Ben Nowlan, a farmer who headed a posse of four men that had been searching for the negro. Johnson was killed late this afternoon. Eight shots were exchanged. Nowlan was uninjured. The men fought at a distance of 60 yards.

Johnson killed Marshal Oliver Swan of Wilburton last September and escaped. Masquerading in a woman's dress Wednesday his identity was discovered by former United States Commissioner Phil Jones who informed the authorities.

Special Notice.

I wish to call attention to the meeting at the First Baptist church at 8:30 this evening, and on each evening this week. These meetings are especially for prayer for a revival of religion in Ada. All lovers of the Lord should be interested in this matter, and can join in these meetings. Everybody is invited to come.

T. H. HARRELL, Pastor.

They Work Fine.

The county prisoners in care of Dave Hybarger are working fine. The old saying a well fed horse will work well, works well in this instance. Yesterday the whole bunch had a picnic. They were at work near the O. C. railroad crossing and their dinner was sent out to them and they enjoyed the spread immensely. The News reported asked one of the prisoners if they had plenty to eat and he replied he had. That the food Sheriff Smith was giving them was wholesome and good. Mr. Smith is to be commended for taking such good care of the unfortunate.

If property owners in Ada have heretofore been undecided as to what variety of shade tree is the best, a walk over town and a look at the prostrate black locust will certainly convince them that the maple is the best variety of shade trees.
